

Let it print

Our interest in the environment starts at the printing factory.

- + Energy savings
- + Alcohol-free solutions
- + Noise suppression
- + Air cleaning
- + Environmentally-friendly washing systems
- + Reduction of paper waste
- + Cost effectiveness

PureprintGroup

Joint Winners: Cambrian Printers and Pureprint

Both printers share this award for their dedication to making all aspects of their company and processes as eco-friendly as possible.

By operating in an integrated manner Cambrian has ensured that the environment plays a key part in all its activities, which is enforced by training its staff to maintain green practices.

Having achieved a wealth of environmental accreditations, including ISO 14001, along with FSC and PEFC Chain of Custody certification, Cambrian is committed to using certified or recycled stock as much as possible as well as reducing paper waste.

It has managed to reduce its landfill waste by over 60%, through increased recycling and a wormery for food waste. Just some of Cambrians many other environmental schemes include energy saving processes and a cycling initiative.

Pureprint has long been known for its eco-aware credentials, but between April 2007 and March 2008 it set out to change sustainable printing from a small scale niche product to an affordable larger scale business choice. This was achieved by improving upon its own green accomplishments and educating customers about environmental practices.

A few examples of the work Pureprint conducted includes increasing its use of FSC and recycled papers to 87%, launching a CarbonNeutral publication service for customers and working with WWF.

As a result, Pureprint has also found itself ranked fourth in a list of the 50 best green companies in the UK.

Judges' comments

Cambrian provided a very comprehensive entry, showing how environmental concern is fully integrated into every part of its business through its staff, customers and suppliers.

Pureprint Group is still moving forward and not resting on its laurels, even after being so prominent an environmentally aware printer for so long. It is helping to educate its customers through use of the World Wildlife Fund scorecard.

Supplier

Category

Environmental Print Supplier of the Year

Shortlisted

Augustus Martin

DSTi Output

Park Communications

Stephens & George Print

Stralfors

Taylor Bloxham

Sponsored by

